Foreign issues are held in the form of American Depository Receipts or American Depository Shares. All securities share a common value orientation, i.e.: low Price/Earnings Ratios and Low Price/Book Value Ratios. The composite benchmark is the Russell 1000 Value Total Return. The Russell 1000 Value Index is comprised of large-cap value equity securities. Additional information regarding policies for valuing portfolios, calculating performance and preparing compliant presentations are available upon request.

Results for fully discretionary accounts are market value weighted and are calculated on a total return, time-weighted basis using trade date valuations. Returns reflect the reinvestment of dividends and other earnings. Cash returns are included in a component of the total account and are not detailed separately. Leverage is not used in managed account and mutual fund strategies. Returns are expressed in US dollars. Performance results will vary based upon the period measured. Composite dispersion is measured using an asset-weighted standard deviation of the individual accounts included in the composite for the full year only. Gross of fee performance is calculated gross of actual management fees and custodian fees and net of transaction costs. Net of fee performance for 1997-1998 has been calculated by applying the maximum applicable SCCM management fee of 1% per annum to the Gross return. Net of fee performance for 1999 has been calculated by applying the maximum applicable SCCM management fee of 1.25% per annum to the Gross return. Net of fee performance from 2000 forward is calculated net of actual management fees and transaction costs but gross of custodian fees. Returns are calculated gross of withholding taxes on dividends and interest. Fees may vary depending on size of account, the relative complexity of servicing the account and legal and other restrictions applicable to the account. Investment advisory fees are generally 1% per annum.
